AGONY OF ECZEMA BEYOND WORDS

Whole Body a Mass of Raw, Torturing Humor—Hair All Fell Out and Ears Seemed Ready to Drop Off—Clothing Would Stick to Bleeding Flesh—Hoped Death Would End Fearful Suffering.

CASE SEEMED HOPELESS BUT CUTICURA CURED HER

"Words cannot describe the terrible eczema I suffered with. It broke out on my head and kept spreading until it covered my whole body. I was almost a solid mass of sores from head to foot. I looked more like a piece of raw beef than a human being. The pain and agony I endured seemed more than I could bear. Blood and pus oozed from the great sores on my scalp, from under my finger nails, and nearly all over my body. My ears were so crusted and swollen I was afraid they would break off. Every hair in my head fell out. I could not sit down, for my clothes would stick to the raw and bleeding flesh, making me cry out from the pain. My family doctor did all he could, but I got worse and worse. My condition was awful. I did not think I could live, and wanted death to come and end my frightful sufferings.

"In this condition my mother-in-law begged me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I said I would, but had no hope of recovery. But oh, what blessed relief I experienced after applying Cuticura Ointment. It cooled the bleeding and itching flesh and brought me the first real sleep I had had in weeks. It was as grateful as ice to a burning tongue. I would bathe with warm water and Cuticura Soap, then apply the Ointment freely. I also took Cuticura Resolvent for the blood. In a short time the sores stopped running, the flesh began to heal, and I knew I was to get well again. Then the hair on my head began to grow, and in a short time I was completely cured. I cannot praise Cuticura enough. I wish I could tell everybody who has eczema to use Cuticura. My condition was so terrible that what cured me cannot fail to cure anybody of this awful disease. If any one doubts the truth of this letter, tell them to write to me. Mrs. Wm. Hunt, 135 Thomas St., Newark, N. J., Sept. 28, 1908."

LANGUAGE OF MUSIC.

The Manner in Which It Appeals to the Human Heart.

To those musical agnostics who deny to music any benefits save those of design and maintain that of itself it cannot express ideas and feelings Bed-ford Mason makes appropriate reply.

But there is another side to the picture. What was it that made George H. rise in his place when they sang the "Hallelujah" chorus, thereby setting an example which is followed to this day? What was it in the finale of the fifth symphony that drew the Napoleonic veteran to his feet with the exclamation, "The emperor?" What sanctity in the Ambrosian hymns moved St. Augustine to tears?

During the wars of the French revolution it was forbidden, on pain of death, to play the "Ranz des Vaches" in the hearing of the Swiss soldiers, for so acute a longing for home did it bring upon them that they deserted in hundreds. Are we to think that there was no virtue in the music itself and that the effect produced was the outcome of purely accidental circumstances?

The Austrian government forbade Berlioz to play the "Rackoocy" march at Budapest, fearful of its effect on the indomitable Hungarians. Was the fire of patriotism kindled by the mere knowledge that the melody symbolized Hungary, or did the notes speak with tongues of flame? Atlantic Monthly.

has joined the ranks of the immortal host, who now "rest under the trees" of Life Eternal—the men who followed the command of Lee. Our loving sympathy goes out to the widow and sons who are called to mourn this irreparable loss, for their sorrow is ours.

"The chief commemorative work of the General Association, U. D. C., is the placing of two monuments, one on the battlefield of Shiloh—where gallantly fought and fell many of the South's bravest defenders, led by the great chieftain, Albert Sidney Johnston, who fell there, a sacrifice to his Southland—and the erection of a monument in the Arlington National Cemetery, where sleep some of our Confederate dead. This has a triple claim upon you, for resting as it will, on the soil of the home of Robert E. Lee, it will be a memorial to that peerless commander; again it will typify the spirit of the Confederate States, which was the defense of constitutional government; and it will further mark the spot where, through the magnanimity of a provision of Congress, honorable place was given to some of our Confederate dead, and where care is shown to their graves. Shall we be less thoughtful of these, our dead? The Executive Committee of the Arlington Monument Association, Col. Hilary A. Herbert, chairman, is asking every chapter throughout this organization to set aside one day in the near future for concerted action in collecting funds for this purpose. The committee's plan will be sent out to you, and your president asks your earnest and active co-operation, which, if had, a large sum may be realized, with little individual cost.

"The veterans are asking your assistance in the purchase of the home and birthplace of President Jefferson Davis, at Fairview, Kentucky. Send contributions to Major John H. Leathers, Louisville, Kentucky. Let each chapter give something to this worthy historic object.

"Let each of us be mindful of the valuable work being done by The Confederate Veteran and show appreciation by subscribing—for it keeps us in touch with much that we should know. Join with your president in making our great association of patriotic and historic value; by so doing, we honor and glorify a past, so full of heroic memories, the history of a chivalrous, valiant people.

A LION HUNT.

Usually a Case in Which Hunters Goad the Game Into Combat.

There is a distinction in Africa between ordinary lions and "man eaters," says T. R. MacMeehan in McClure's Magazine. The ordinary lion does not willfully attack man. The presence of lions roaming at night on the veldt is not disturbing to any native nor to whites who have come to understand the least. Persons returning to their camps after nightfall do not notice the roaring of lions or the cries of leopards or hyenas.

It is seldom that people bent upon domestic errands carry weapons in the darkness, although at night the veldt of British East Africa is alive with roaring beasts, which may be heard from the verandas of the houses. Lions give the passing man a wide berth, day or night, when it is apparent that he means no mischief. An ordinary lion, even when wounded, will try flight before fight. When its escape is disputed it will, especially if wounded, try to maul its enemy with teeth and claws.

A lion hunt is usually a chase in which the hunters goad the game into combat. Once a lion has tasted human blood, however, it is no more afraid of man, but learns that he is the weakest of animals and the choicest of meat. Such a lion is known as a man eater because now he hunts man.
